HURTWOOD HOUSE

PSYCHOLOGY

Hurtwood House is looking for an enthusiastic and dynamic teacher to join a strong A Level Psychology team which is growing in student numbers, while maintaining high academic standards. This academic year there are five groups studying in the first year of the A Level course and four groups following the A2 course – over 100 students in all. Results are excellent, with 70% of candidates achieving A*– B grades in their A Levels last year. The department comprises three full-time teachers and is currently following the AQA A Level course whose units include Gender, Schizophrenia and Forensic Psychology.

In the department's teaching and learning, much emphasis is placed not only on the understanding of psychological models but also on the ability of each student to apply these to real-world scenarios and case studies. Contact time with students is six hours per week and support outside of lesson time is regarded as an essential supplement.

The department is involved in an exciting distance learning project with one of our sister schools in China and we are looking for a teacher who is confident in using Microsoft Teams and who is able to plan and deliver online lessons to overseas students, in addition to classroom teaching.

The ability to offer A Level Sociology would be an advantage for the successful candidate.

Hurtwood House operates a flexible policy in student admission and the mixed ability intake contains many students who are studying and writing in their second language. Group sizes are small, with an average of twelve students per class and teaching takes place in dedicated, well-resourced classrooms. An enthusiastic, dynamic and ambitious teacher should expect a challenging but highly rewarding experience by joining the team

BOARDING AND PASTORAL

As a fully residential school our primary concern is to provide students with a safe, structured, caring and happy community. That is why we place so much emphasis on our House structure.

Students board in one of five country houses or their lodges, some of which are on the campus and some nearby. Each House has a Housemaster or Housemistress (HsM) who lives in and a team of House Tutors. The HsM is the link between the school, the student and parents and is the first point of contact on all academic and pastoral matters. The House staff are responsible for looking after the students, for monitoring academic progress, for providing guidance and for creating a warm, supportive and organised family unit and what we like to think of as a sense of 'structured informality'. All full-time staff are assigned to one of the boarding houses as academic tutors who take responsibility for a small tutor group, meeting them on a Monday evening. Some staff are full tutors who assist the HsM in the running of the boarding environment by doing evening and weekend duties in the House. An additional allowance is paid for these duties.

All of the working day is spent on campus and students are transported back to their House after supper every evening by the House staff. Main meals are taken on campus in our award winning 'refectory' building where the food is healthy, wholesome and there is a wide choice to satisfy all dietary requirements. It is all freshly prepared on the premises by our own staff. There are also kitchen facilities in every House for snacks, tea and coffee etc, games rooms and communal TV rooms. All Houses have internet access and a wireless LAN.

Joining the Hurtwood pastoral team offers opportunities to:

- Work with students outside of the classroom, building long-lasting, productive relationships
- Become part of the hard-working and dedicated tutor teams who run the boarding houses
- Help students prepare for the independence of life at university, drama school or art college
- Become fully involved in the busy and exciting extracurricular life of the school
